

OGOGORO RECORDS

Official Press Release

Release Date: Monday, September 23rd, 2025

OGOGORO RECORDS. An African, Caribbean tribe from Southeast London creating a new wave of Afro House music right here in the UK. With a new energy and a new sound crafted by Mysterex for Kotch music production, taking everything back to the root source of the motherland with an infectious wave of UK Afro House merged with Afro swing, inspired by ancestral and futuristic sounds bringing a spiritual connection to eager listeners hungry for high energy.

Ogogoro are currently involved in a number of exciting projects, collaborations and frequently releasing new music on their youtube music channel to fuel this movement.

We are excited to announce the launch of Ogogororecords.com, where you can find out the latest music news, releases, live events and more. The artists recently collaborated on a new music track with Ed Accura of critically acclaimed film/documentary series Blacks Can't Swim, for a new project named "No LifeGuard" which has already been featured on the BBC radio and international press. Visuals dropping soon. With live events from Dash The Henge festival in Brixton to featured stories on rumora.co, sharing artist Sayso and his inspiration with Rum and his creative music process, theres plenty more in the pipeline before the year is through! For interviews, performance bookings or collaborations get in contact.

For Media Inquiries Contact:

Email: info@ogogororecords.com Website: <https://ogogororecords.com>

Instagram: @ogogororecords YouTube: @OgogoroRecords

TikTok: @itsyourboysays